SADDLER V. ALEXANDER. Court of Appeals of Kentucky. April 26, 1900.

LOT OWNER, BY MALICIOUSLY ERECTING ON HIS LOT A HIGH FENCE, DOES NOT GIVE A RIGHT OF ACTION TO AN AD-JOINING LOT OWNER, WHOSE VIEW, LIGHT AND AIR WAS THEREBY CUT OFF.

This was an action to recover damages for injury to property. Plaintiff and defendant owned adjoining lots in the city of Franklin. Defendant malliciously and spitefully erected a high fence all along the line between the two lots, thereby cutting off the plaintiff's view and light and air from his premises. From a judgment for is premises. From a judgment for efendant the plaintiff appealed.

nils premises. From a judgment for defendant the plaintiff appealed.

The court says:

It was adjudged in Ray v. Sweeney that the doctrine of the English common law in respect to ancient lights has never been in fore in this State. The mere fact that one proprietor of land may have enjoyed light and air flowing into his house over the land of his neighbor does not prevent that neighbor from erecting a building upon his own lot, notwithstanding it may interfere with the light and air which the other previously enjoyed. Although the appelle was influenced by malice and desfre to inconvenience the appellant in the erection of the fence, still her right to erect it existed, and was not lost by reason of her malice. Appellee could have erected a house on her own premises which would have interfered with the window in the house of the appellant, and still no cause of action would have resulted therefrom. The obstruction of the window might interfere with the light and air which would have flowed into it except for the building, or it might have obstructed the view from the window; still that would not have created a cause of action in favor of the appellant. This being true, it follows that, if the appellee's fence did interfere with the appellant's view, no cause of action resulted. The appellant did not acquire a right to the light and air coming laterally over the premises of the appellee.

BRAMBLETON.

Quite a number of people assembled at the study of the Park Avenue Baptist Church at 9:30 o'clock last night to witness the marriage of Mr./ Benjamin F Daily, of this city, and Miss Ethel A. Austin, formerly of Danville, but now of Norfolk. The bride and groom and their attendants were becomingly attired, and the beautiful decorations of the study added attraction to the scene. The nuptial knot was impressively tied by Rev. F. W. Moore, who is temporarily supplying the pulpit of Park Avenue Baptist Church during Dr. Hall's absence in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Daly will make their home in the ward.

Mr. C. H. Simpson has returned from Panacea Springs, N. C., where he enjoyed a delightful sojourn. He is very much improved in health.

Mrs. H. O. Billups, of Willoughby avenue, has returned from a visit to relatives and friends in Mathews county.

The Norfolk and Atlantic Terminal Company yesterday paid $800 into the joint meeting of the Ordinance Committee and the special Committee on the Storage of Oils to consider the proposed ordinance restricting the storage of oils and gasoline to five barrels at any one place in the city, but only three members of the two committees were present.

New Steamer ScheduleCommencing to-day, a new schedule will be inaugurated by the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, as follows: The steamer will leave Norfolk, foot of Water street, at 6 p. m., instead of 5:45 p. m., and Old Point Comfort at 7 p. m., instead of 6:45 p. m. Otherwise the schedule is unchanged.

Frond MITCHELL.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell and Mrs. Edgar Lee Ford, both of Richmond, were united in the bonds of holy wedlock.

The double parlors were tastefully decorated with palms and potted plants, and a select company of invited guests were present to witness the nuptials.

The bride looked exceedingly handsome in white chiffon with pearl trimnings, and carried La France roses.

Miss Lillian Lee Crump, of Alexandria, filled the role as maid of honor. She was attired in white organdle, with ribbon and lace trimmngs, and carried pink carnations.

The groom and his best man, Mr. W. A. Woodhouse, were conventional black.

VIRGINIA MILITIA

To be Formed Into Regiments After the Annual Inspection.

The Virginia militia will be organized into regiments after the annual inspection next month.

It is now thought there will be three regiments-two of twelve companies Richmond Blues are unalterably opposed to being attached to any regithe Blues were re-organized they were promised by Governor Tyler that they should remain a separate and distinct organization. In case of certain conditions arising, the Blues would be attached to the ten-company regiment.

The Newport News companies are anxious that the Blues go into a regiment with them, in order that the two companies at Newport News and the two companies of Blues may form a battalion.

There are not as yet course.

companies at Newport News and the two companies of Blues may form a battalion.

There are not as yet enough companies to form three regiments, but there are several being organized.

THE NEW FOURTH.

There has been considerable talk recently through the newspapers concerning the re-organization of the Fourth Virginia Militia, the trend of all the articles being to the effect that Richmond is expecting to get in the same regiment with the Peninsula companies, and she will not be the headquarters for the new Fourth.

To begin with, the law authorizing the organization of the present State militia, states that the regiments must be made up according to the geographical location of the companies.

Under this ruling it is safe to say that the new Fourth will be made up as follows: Norfolk, three companies; Portsmouth, two companies; Hampton, one company; Newport News, two companies; Franklin, one company; Smithfield, one company; Emporia, one company. The regimental headquarters of the Fourth will be in Norfolk, where they have been for the last seventy-nine years.

The entire history of the Fourth Virginia, ever since its first organization, has been one of glory, and the reputation it has sustained throughout its career has been an enviable one. The make-up of the regiment, as given above, comes from one in a position to know,

The companies are admirably located for the formation of the regiment, all of them being within two hours' run of the regimental headquarters. This is practically the same regiment that went through the Spanish-American war with so much credit to itself.

There will be a conference in mear future of a number of the le near future of a number of the leading and most prominent officers in the above companies, at which the question of line officers will be discussed and steps taken to bring about the above organization.

When the regiment is organized the following officers are slated for the line: Colonel, Alexander Higgins, of Norfolk; Lleutenant-Colonel, C. C. Vaughan, Jr., of Franklin; Majors, Thomas Nottingham, of Norfolk; Frank C. Couch, of Hampton, and Harry C. Causey, of Suffolk.

Other names have been suggested through the papers as being possibilities, but it is probable that the above officers will be elected without opposition.

The United States has taken the lead

The answer of the United States was quickly followed to-day by similar action on the part of Germany, the Berlin Foreign Office delivering to the Chinese Minister an answer refusing to enter into negotiations on the ground that there was no evidence that Li Hung Chang's credentials gave him sufficient power to act, and no temporizing negotiations, and there that nothing short of complete authority from the responsible rulers of China, the Emperor and Empress Dowager, could be regarded as sufficient. Soon after this action at Berlin the German charge d'affaires. Baron Speck von Sternberg, was advised by cable and he called at the State Department to inform the authorities of Germany's course. There was an exchange of felicitations, as it was looked upon as another evidence of the uniformity of action between the United States and Germany. The Japanese officials expressed their full conviction that Japan would take similar action, if indeed such astion already had not been taken. The German reply in one respect is regarded as having significance beyond that of the United States in that it is based on the theory that in that it is based on the theory that there can be no sovereign authority in China other than that emanating from the Emperor and Empress Dowager. Among diplomatic officials this is said to be equivalent to an assertion that the existing regime is to be recognized and that there is no purpose to set up any new administrative authority over
